

MILLERCOMM88

Lynne Sharon Schwartz

Reading from her fiction

Lynne Sharon Schwartz, respected contemporary novelist and short story writer, will give a public reading of her fiction, as part of the Robert J. Carr Visiting Author Series. Schwartz is the author of three novels, Rough Strife, Balancing Acts and Disturbances in the Field, and two short story collections, Acquainted with the Night and The Melting Pot and Other Subversive Stories.

Wednesday 8:00 pm 1988

New Music Building Auditorium
1114 West Nevada Street
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

9
MAR

Through rich images, Lynne Schwartz allows us to view her characters and their foibles, eccentricities and their desperation. She's kindred to the painter Goya, who allowed us to see life as it was – with a certain sly wit and style.

Chicago Tribune

Robert J. Carr Visiting Author Series
Department of English
Committee on Jewish Culture and Society
Office of Women's Resources and Services
Women's Studies Program
George A. Miller Committee