

Irene Tinker

Professor Emerita of Women's Studies and City and Regional Planning, University of California at Berkeley

October 8, 1999

Friday 4:00 pm

Levis Faculty Center

919 West Illinois Street, Urbana

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Alternative Ways to Power

Sponsored by:

Office of Women in International Development

In conjunction with:

Afro American Studies and Research Program

Center for African Studies

Center for East Asian and Pacific Studies

International Programs and Studies

Department of Agricultural and Consumer Economics

Department of Anthropology

Department of Community Health

Department of Economics

Department of Geography

Department of History

Department of Human and Community Development

Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Science

Department of Political Science

Department of Psychology

Department of Sociology

Department of Urban and Regional Planning

Environmental Council

Illinois Program for Research in the Humanities

Latina/o Studies Program

Program in Arms Control, Disarmament, and International Security (ACDIS)

Program in South Asian and Middle Eastern Studies

School of Social Work

Women's Studies Program

Series support provided by:

Office of the Chancellor

Office of Affirmative Action

Office of the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs

Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and the Graduate College

Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

The Center for Advanced Study

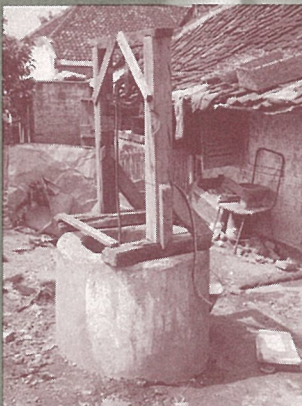

George A. Miller Endowment

George A. Miller Committee

Peggy Harris Memorial Fund

The Council of Deans

Irene Tinker, a pioneer in the field of women in international development, discusses alternative approaches taken by women in developing countries to influence policies and achieve a more equitable share of political and economic power. She addresses the growing variety of non-governmental and grassroots organizations that permit women to develop leadership skills around particular policy issues, such as housing rights, legalized vending of street foods, and access to credit.

For background information, please consult <http://www.cas.uiuc.edu> or call the Miller Events Line, 333-1118.