From the Senses to Sense

An Electrophysiological View On the Human Brain Activities

A leading expert in the field of cognitive neuroscience, Marta Kutas will describe her lab's research showing that while brain waves cannot be used to read people's minds they themselves can be read, and in so doing we can learn more about how our daily experiences influence the organization of the knowledge in our minds/brains, which in turn affects how we make sense of sensory inputs, especially language.

Lyle Lanier Lecture

Established in 1986, this lectureship is in honor of Lyle Lanier who served as Head of Psychology, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and Provost at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign.
