

MILLERCOMM95

Based upon recent economic and political trends in Western Europe, Daniel Singer predicts that the European Union will enter a period of "consensus politics" looking very much like Reaganism and the Republican 1994 "Contract with the People." Given an absence of viable solutions from the traditional parties of the left, Singer foresees that the extreme right will put forth policies that are increasingly narrow and nationalistic.

30
MAR

Thursday 8:00pm 1995

Third Floor, Levis Faculty Center
919 West Illinois Street, Urbana
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Daniel Singer

European correspondent, The Nation
Former Continental correspondent, The Economist

Is Europe's Future American?

Office of the Chancellor
Office of the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs
Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and the Graduate College
Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs
The Council of Deans
The Center for Advanced Study
George A. Miller Endowment
George A. Miller Committee

Department of Economics
Department of French
Department of German
Department of History
Department of Journalism
Department of Philosophy
Department of Political Science
Committee on European Studies
Institute for Communications Research
Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations
International Programs and Studies
Russian and East European Center
Socialist Forum
University YMCA-Friday Forum