

MILLERCOMM88

Understanding Natural Order

Barry Barnes
University of Edinburgh

A distinguished scholar and lecturer in the sociology of science, Barry Barnes is on campus this semester as a George A. Miller Visiting Professor in the Department of Sociology and the Program in Science, Technology and Society.

September 1987, Tuesday 4:00 pm

112 Gregory Hall
810 South Wright Street, Urbana
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Scientific Knowledge:
A Reflection of Objective Reality
or a Social Convention?

"What people take to be knowledge of nature varies greatly both between different societies and between different periods of history of any given society. In this sense, natural order is as variable as moral order . . ."

