

MILLERCOMM88

The Historical Role of Black Women in America

Paula Giddings, author of When and Where I Enter: The Impact of Black Women in America, presents the first coherent analysis of the role of black women in America, both past and present. Through a historical perspective, the author also explores contemporary issues such as the crises of the black family, the relationship of black women to the present-day feminist movement, and the role of black women in the current racial struggle.

Tuesday 8:00 pm 1988

Foellinger Auditorium
South End of the Quadrangle
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

8
MAR

Paula Giddings

Afro-American Cultural Program
Afro-American Studies and Research Program
American Association of University Women/Champaign-Urbana Branch
College of Communication
College of Education
College of Law
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Dean of Students Office
Department of English
Department of History
Department of Political Science
Grassroots Group of Second Class Citizens
Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations
Jane Addams Book Shop
Lavendar Prairie Collective
Lesbian and Gay Illini

National Organization for Women/Champaign County Chapter
National Council of Negro Women/Champaign-Urbana-Rantoul Chapter
Office for Women's Resources and Services
Office of the Chancellor
Office of Women in International Development
Parkland College Office of Women's Studies
School of Human Resources and Family Studies
School of Humanities
School of Social Work
UIUC Offices of Affirmative Action
Unit for Criticism and Interpretive Theory
University Library
University YWCA
Women's Studies Program
George A. Miller Committee