

MILLERCOMM89

U.S. Foreign Aid: Betraying the National Interest

Frances Moore Lappé

Author and Co-founder of the Institute for Food and Development Policy

22
SEP

Thursday 8:00 pm 1988

Foellinger Auditorium
South End of the Quadrangle
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Frances Moore Lappé is the author of the best-selling classic Diet for a Small Planet, a book that awakened a whole generation to the way our food ties us to the world economy and also told us how individuals can begin work for solutions to world hunger. Ms. Lappé's research and writing on the root causes of world hunger have made her "one of the most respected critics on food issues in the country" according to The New York Times.

College of Agriculture
School of Human Resources and Family Studies
School of Social Work
Department of Agricultural Economics
Department of Agricultural Engineering
Department of Anthropology
Department of Political Science
Agricultural Experiment Station
Center for African Studies
Center for East Asian and Pacific Studies
Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies
Institute for Environmental Studies
Office of International Agriculture
Program in Science, Technology, and Society
Program in South and West Asian Studies
Women's Studies Program

Archer Daniels Midland Foundation
Common Ground Coop
Community United Church of Christ
Council of Congregations
Episcopal Church Foundation
Illinois Disciples Foundation
Lutheran Campus Center
McKinley Foundation
Ministry with Women
Unitarian Universalists Church
United Church Foundation
University YMCA
University YWCA
Wesley Foundation
George A. Miller Committee