

MILLERCOMM89

The Future of America: Can the Mosaic Be Maintained?

CONRAD LYNN

Civil Rights Lawyer and Political Activist
Unit One Guest-in-Residence

Wednesday 8:00 1989

112 Gregory Hall
810 South Wright Avenue, Urbana
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

15
FEB

In the early part of the 20th century, the "great melting pot" was a comfortable and inviting image of white America's future. In the second half of the century, racial and ethnic minorities have sought to maintain their cultural identities. What is the current role and consequence of cultural diversity in the United States? Will America become a well-crafted mosaic or will diversity succumb to political and cultural hegemony?

College of Law
Department of Political Science
Afro-American Cultural Program
Afro-American Studies and Research Program
La Casa Cultural Latina

Unit One
Central Black Student Union
Eusa Nia Black Student Union
George A. Miller Committee